

It's the holidays. That means its time to go back to your small hometown and reconnect with that long lost love for a perfect Christmas. Where will your Hallmark horoscope take you? Hint: It's basically all the same movie.

Do you prefer to be on your own? Or do you prefer to be with other people?

It's your first holiday season in the big city ... but your boss wants you to work overtime.

You're going back to your small childhood hometown for Christmas!
What do you start with first?

Show them the true meaning of the holidays! Where do you start?

Quit the big city job!

Wrapping presents

Baking cookies

Baking cookies

Wrapping presents

Next?

Next?

Picking out a tree at the tree lot

Ice skating at rink

Ice skating at the lake

You run into your first love from your childhood! They're putting up missing posters

for their dog. Do you ...

Chopping down a tree in the woods

You are kidnapped by a man in a Santa costume for not helping look for the dog. You don't have good Christmas spirit.

You run into an old flame! They're putting up missing posters for their dog. Do you ...

Ignore them and go to a Christmas party.

Help them look for the Shih Tzu named Holly! Tou're happy to spend time with them.

Your car broke down while looking for the dog! It's very cold outside.
What do you do?

As you lean in for the kiss, you're interrupted by the sound of barking! It's the dog!

You race out of the car and the dog comes rushing to you.

Everyone joins in a big group hug as the snow falls around you!

You realize your feelings for each other have been rekindled. Do you lean in or move away? Sit in the car and talk Sta

Start a fire

Congratulations! You've saved the Shih Tzu named Holly and saved Christmas!

You turn away and look out the window. It's starting to snow.
Out of the corner of your eye, you see something at the edge of the forest. It's the dog!

The AAA person comes to save you, and they have the dog!

